Campaign Enters Second Day

The polls in the faculty lounge of Colden Hall open today (Wednesday) for voting on student senate. Overt campaigning for this election did not begin until 7:00 a.m. Tuesday with the nominating conventions held last week.

The campaign managers met with Ivan Lyddon, president of the student body, for the purpose of discussing the various rules for the election. The managers were asked by the "Missourian" to make statements as to the issues and platforms of the candidates.

Marr Speaks for ISO Candidates

Ed Marr, president of the Independent Student Organization, replied in behalf of the ISO slate. "The Independent candidates are pretty much agreed as to the issues in the senate election. First, the problem of equal representation in the Senate is of vital importance. The candidates feel the present system is inadequate and would like to see some changes made.

Next is the problem of political machines electing senators. Now the emphasis is placed on the organization and the girl. It is agreed more weekend activities should be planned and carried out, especially on week-ends of sports events. Also, the dorms should be available until closing hours. Because this plan will work the students will have to become accustomed to longer Den hours. We feel the spirit of the school built around the athletic events, therefore, as much as possible should be maintained. Senate sponsored away sports events is a good answer.

After the terms of the present senators have expired all sitting on the senate will have affiliations with Greek organizations. Since the majority of the students are dependent we feel we are entitled to equal representation. We want complete control but a fair representation."

Managers Decline Statement

The campaign managers for the following Greek candidates declined to make a statement to the "Missourian". Their slate includes seniors, Earl Boyd, Sigma Epsilon; Suzanne Miller, Alpha Sigma Alpha; Mrs. Don Daniels, Sigma Gamma; Judy Hullman, Gamma Sigma; sophomore, Marion Griesinger, Phi Chi; Debbie Price, Mu; freshmen, Jim Hawley, Tau Kappa Epsilon. Also freshmen race are Betty and Judy Brown.

Polls Close at 4:00

The polls will remain open until the noon hour and will close at 4:00 p.m. Counting of the ballots will begin immediately after closing time. Activity is necessary for identification as in all previous elections this semester.

Debate Team Attends Tourney At Iowa State

The debate team composed of Jeanie Morris and Priscilla Porter maintained a 50 percent win-loss record at the Iowa State University Debate Tournament. Of six debates, the Morris-Porter team were victorious in three and were defeated in an equal number.

"Resolved, that the non-communist nations of the world should establish an economic community", was the subject of the debate tournament, held on Dec. 1 and 2.

A total of nine debaters from NWMSC attended the event, accompanied by Mr. George Hinshaw, director of forensics.

Mr. Luke Boone presided at the executive committee meeting of the state department of audio-visual aids held in Columbia December 1.

Horace Mann Displays Collection

A colorful, unique doll collection, representing many types of races and cultures, cannot help but catch the eye as one walks past the beautiful display in the Horace Mann building.

The collection has an interesting history. In order to satisfy a special interest found in young children and to be used as an objective means of building world understanding, Miss Chloe Millikan, a faculty member, began the collection in the early thirties while the laboratory school was housed in the Administration building. The idea received added impetus when the school moved to the new Horace Mann building which provided display space.

The first doll was contributed

ATTENTION SENIORS

Air Force officers pre-entrance examinations will be given at the local Air Force recruiting office (Chamber of Commerce) on December 15th, for all college seniors who are interested in pilot training, administrative and or technical specialties. There is no obligation incurred by taking the test.

Anyone interested please call Sgt. Bell at JU 2-5621; after 5:00 P.M. call JU 2-3613.

International Essay Contest Planned

An international project is now being planned between the United States and Canada. The Intercollegiate Association for Study of the Alcohol Problem is sponsoring an editorial writing contest with $2,000 in cash awards in addition to eight scholarships. Dr. James E. Lowe is the faculty member in charge of this contest for NWMSC.

Each school year the association offers to college students of Canada and the United States an opportunity to participate in an international series of editorial writing awards on current aspects of the problems of alcoholism. This year the theme is "The Role of Alcoholic Beverages in the Family," with April 1, 1963 as the deadline.

Mr. T. Weichinger spoke for the Clinton County schools career conference on "Careers in Science Fields" at Grower, Missouri, December 6.

Noyes Home Feted at Party by TKE and ASA

Dec. 16 Set for Hanging of Greens

The annual "Hanging of the Greens" will be December 16 in Roberta Hall. This year revisions in the script have been made under the direction of Mr. Luther Blatt.

The senior girls who were picked as the reader and snow princess are Stephanie Pershing and Kay Fisher.

The "Bearers of the Green" are: Karen Mast, Kathi Kinick, Jacque Cockrill, Patsy Robinson and Pat Keller.

Coventry dancers are Kathy Swaboda and Judy Hullman.

The Morris dancers are: Linda Houck, Janet Hawkins, Kay Pfeiffer, Diane Mitchell, Karlene Hendrix, Sherry Speer and Marge MacDonald.

Men's Housing

All men living in approved housing who wish to reside in the men's dormitories next semester are urged to contact the housing office immediately, so that their names can be placed on the waiting list.

Providing a full and interesting day for thirty-five boys and girls from the Noyes Home for Little Wanderers in St. Joseph was last Sunday's project of Tau Kappa Epsilon and Alpha Sigma Alpha.

The day was begun by bringing the children to Maryville by bus and accompanying them to services at the Methodist church. After worship the girls were treated to lunch in the Union cafeteria while the boys ate at the TKE house.

The afternoon was spent at a Christmas party in the J. W. Jones Union Building. After watching three cartoons in the Den, the children, who ranged in age from four to fourteen years, were amused by readings by Dennis Rhodes and Jacque Cockrill. Bob Lewellen, Jane Porter and Marilyn Luhrs also helped entertain the guests. As Barb Combs was leading the group in carols, Santa (Everett Brown) came to distribute the gifts.

The children were returned to their home in time for the evening meal.

Special guests from among the faculty were President and Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Belcher, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brown, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Blatt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lasley and the TKE and ASA advisors and sponsors.

GSS-APO To Move Carnegie Library

Gamma Sigma Sigma and Alpha Phi Omega, as a community service project, plan to help move the Carnegie Library from its present location to the new location, the old post office building. The move will take place some time in 1963 as the building is not ready for occupancy yet.

When the post office moved, the old building was declared a surplus available to educational purposes. It was then given to the city of Maryville for a library.

To Carol in Administration Bldg.

In keeping with the Christmas spirit there will be caroling December 18, 19 and 20.

Everyone is invited to come and sing from 12:30 to 1:00 on these days. The singing will take place in the hall on the second floor of the Ad Building.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

Last week in an open Letter to the Editor, Mr. Ted Marr, president of the Independent Student Organization, posed a solution to a problem which has concerned this writer for some time now. I would like point four of Mr. Marr's proposal debated at greater length. This point involves those students living out in town and the commuters, who I feel are NOT being represented in campus politics. They have problems which do not concern those students living on campus and the residents of the dorms and quads are uninterested in the various troubles of the off-campus students. But nevertheless the students out in town need a chance to air their problems and be heard.

I would be interested in knowing how Mr. Marr would propose nominating and electing those two senators from out in town. The other senators could be elected at the fraternity and sorority meetings and at the dorm and quad meetings. But there is no organization made up entirely of off-campus students. I am not saying there is not a need for such an organization because I feel there is. I am merely stating the situation as it now exists.

Now if someone who lives off-campus and who is dissatisfied with the lack of ties to the college community shared by the off-campus students would organize a club for these people something could be done about alleviating the problem.

A tentative plan for such an organization could be to divide the town into four sections with co-chairmen from each area to sponsor mixers and dances between the four groups and other events for these people. As it is now, unless you belong to one of the social organizations you don't really get together with any of your fellow students at a small dance or function with college approval.

Of course, there would have to be an executive council made up of representatives from each section to decide on the purposes, to set up the by-laws, and to keep an eye on the fulfillment of duties of the co-chairmen.

But at the present time many students living out in town are left out in the cold as far as activities are concerned. This perhaps would be an incentive for many students to spend the week ends at school. But, why should they stay and sit in their rooms all day?

Other than this one point, I for one, agree wholeheartedly with Mr. Marr. Maybe there are other sides to this question which requires thought. Off-hand I can see the concern of many balking at the idea of casting off another part of tradition such as class affiliations. But if something is not answering the need for which it was established, something new must be put in its place.

How many students attending this college are well enough acquainted with the nominees for Student Senate to honestly cast a ballot at election time? But they do know quite personally the other residents of their dorms or quads or their fraternity brothers or sorority sisters. —LJS

The Stroller

On one of the many breaks in the day between his two classes, the Stroller headed for ye olde den. Being of sounder mind than is usual, she happened to notice the newly decorated surroundings. Horrors of horrors; it was actually light! The walls were a shade of vivid white.

She considered the dire situation. Seats were even very easily spotted in the brightness of the cellar. The students huddled together in the center with seeming fear of smudging yon walls.

The sagacious one would like to offer a suggestion: that the creative ability of members of the campus be tapped for murals, or that, following expresso tradition, students be allowed to take their frustrations out on the poor defenseless walls.

If none of these would suffice, how about bringing back the dirty green. It was beginning to look like fungus so perhaps the botany department could develop a creeping, clinging fungi which would also carpet the floors thereby silencing the crashing of coke glasses.

He believes that the administration did not really understand the length of time it takes to get a place really "homey". The wise-one proposes a poster for Ye Olde Den: Do you feel stifled? Curbed at the peek of your potential? Pent-up, re-strained, and worst of all not allowed creative freedom? Overcome these inhibitions! Equip yourself with a paint brush and various sundry paints: water-color, finger, oil, grease and head for the walls.

If requested, a special place could be marked off near the doors for the faculty. After all we aren't the only ones who have problems.

Photographer Inquiring

The lack of school spirit and suitcase students seem to be the two ever present problems on campus.

The use of the Den seems to be a part of the solution. At any rate, this was the indication the roving photographer got when this question was asked.

"Do you think there should be Den dances scheduled after each home ball game?"

Janet Acord, Kansas City, Mo., freshman, elementary ed. major:

"Yes, I think it raises the spirit of the school. Besides, there is time to relax after the tension of the game. Also, I like dancing to 'The Lonely Bull'."

Suzane Sullivan, Villisca, Iowa, sophomore, elementary ed. major:

"Yes. Definitely! I think it keeps the kids from going home."

Orlo Shroyer, Guthrie Center, Iowa, junior, industrial arts major:

"Yes, if the game is on the week-end; and if so, maybe the Monday night dance should be eliminated".

Charles Sumers, Excelsior Springs, junior, industrial arts and math major:

"Certainly—it gives something to do after the game

Dee Decker, Council Bluffs, Iowa, junior, English major:

"Yes, because it gives kids something to do, and everyone likes to go to the Den dances

Tom Stoddard, Treynor, Iowa, freshman, physical education major:

"I would say yes. A ball game is early and a Den dance gives them something to do rather than just running around."

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Mrs. Thomas L. Jones, national secretary of Sigma Sigma Sigma, was honored at a tea Thursday, December 6, in the Tri Sigma chapter room. Approximately thirty-five guests were served cake and punch.

Mrs. Jones inspected the campus chapter, Alpha Epsilon, last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Phi Mu

Phi Mu pledges and actives visited the Phi Mu chapter at Nebraska Wesleyan College in Lincoln, Nebraska, the weekend of December 1. The girls stayed at the sorority house of the Phi Mu's and returned home Sunday.

Phi Lambda Chi

John Herzig and J. A. Hurst have been named faculty sponsors of the Phi Lambda Chi fraternity according to an announcement from Dr. J. W. Jones, president.

Phi Lambda Chi

Phi Lambda Chi has initiated the practice of inviting four coeds to dinner each Wednesday evening. Pat Phillips, Marilyn Zbierski, Kathi Kinick and Marty Merrill were guests last week.

Delta Zeta

Delta Zeta hosted a mixer with Phi Sigma Epsilon Tuesday, Dec. 4, at the Phi Sigma chapter room.

Faculty guests were Miss Louise Lovell, Mr. H. R. Dietrich, Dr. Wanda Walker and Mr. William Garrett. Refreshments were served by the Dz's.

Sigma Tau Gamma

Members of Sigma Tau Gamma sang Christmas carols at the homes of President and Mrs. J. W. Jones, alumni members of the fraternity as well as the women's dorms yesterday evening. After carolling, a Christmas party was held at the fraternity house where gifts were exchanged and Santa Claus was played by Joel Crandall.

Snowball Theme Of Phi Lam Dance

A theme of "Snowball" was carried out through snowmen for table decorations and Christmas trees at the Phi Lambda Chi winter formal Friday, November 30.

Miss Louise Lovell was a special faculty guest.

Refreshments of punch and cookies were made by Mrs. Lucille Markham, Phi Lambda housemother.

'Take Time To Love And To Be Loved'

Thursday night the SCA devotion topic was, "Take Time to Love and to be Loved" given by Carolyn Rowe. The scheduled meeting on Sunday December 16 at the Old Peoples' Home has been canceled.

The next meeting will be a caroling party which begins in the Chapel at 6 o'clock on December 20. All members are urged to attend. Transportation will be provided.

"Do you really think this is the best time to get your portrait painted, George?"

Richard Schmitz awards Bridge Tournery trophies to John Roy Kelley and Darrell Cotter. The tournament was sponsored by the Union Board and ended last week, when prizes were awarded.

Dec. 13 Party For Dames Club

The Dames Club will have a Christmas party December 13 in the Student Union Lounge. Mrs. Charles Koerble and Mrs. Leon Miller are co-chairman of the event.

The program will feature eight children from the Horace Mann Junior High singing three carols. This will be under the direction of Miss Ruth Miller. Five members of this group will play instruments under the direction of Mr. Ward Rounds. They will play selections from two Bach Corals. A special Christmas reading will be given by Mrs. Charles Koerble. General carol singing will then conclude the program.

Fifty Records Given to Library

Fifty records have been given to the library by the Columbia Record Company. Included in the collection are records such as Strauss' "Carmen", selections from Brahms and Beethoven, Bernstein and Walter conducting the New York Philharmonic and Columbia Symphonic Orchestras, selections by the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, and the sound track from the Broadway musical "Bye Bye Birdie".

These records, along with others, are for the students' use on the stereo record player in the browsing room of the library.

"Sorry, Arthur, all the rectangular tables are gone, but I can order one if you're not in a hurry."

Piano Club Hears Mrs. Sandford

The Piano Repertoire Club met Wednesday evening, December 5th, in the Administration Building. Donna Theis presided over the business meeting. Linda Owens, program chairman, introduced Joanne Swope, Carolyn Houts, and Jeannie Morris who presented piano solos.

The speaker for the evening was Mrs. Sandford who discussed the problems of teaching beginning piano to college students.

New Bulletin Board

A central bulletin board, listing all campus activities, will be placed in the Union Building soon.

The board will list future happenings under the classifications: fraternities, sororities and dormitories.

Pinnings Highlight Formal

Under silver bells swinging from green streamers, the Bobby Dreher orchestra furnished the music for the annual Tau Kappa Epsilon Christmas ball. The theme of "Silver Bells" was carried out with three silver bells hanging on one side of a group of decorated Christmas trees.

Highlighting the evening were the formal pinnings of Dianne Mitchell to Roger Anderson, Judy Osborn to Harry Combs, Nancy Patton to Stuart Binter, and Janet Byron to Van Price.

Mr. and Mrs. Bouska and Mr. and Mrs. John Becks were guest sponsors of the event.

GSS Entertains Noyes Home

Gamma Sigma Sigma pledges, Dorothy Zaiger, Doris Schreiner, Glenda Jamison, Judy Huitt, Paula Kaminska, Pam Allred, Pat Allred, Marilyn Agre, Charlene Farrow, Erma Hall, Sharon Phoenix and Sharon Schmidt; Joanne Swope, pledge mother; and Miss Barbara Palling, sponsor, entertained the Noyes Children Home, Saturday, December 1. Games, songs and refreshments were planned for the children.

Mrs. Sawyers Hosts Colhecon Party

The college chapter of the Home Economics Association will hold its annual Christmas party December 12, in the home of Mrs. Betty Sawyers, home economics instructor.

Sharon Ostrus, president, appointed June Butler chairman of the program committee. Several girls volunteered to aid Mrs. Sawyers with the food preparation.

All those attending the party will meet at Roberta Hall for rides to Mrs. Sawyer's home.

Thursday, December 13, Colhecon members will meet to decorate the Christmas tree in the home economics lounge, an annual project.

Music Clinic Held Here

A trumpet and cornet clinic held at NWMSC on Saturday, Dec. 1, was attended by 24 students and 9 directors from 12 surrounding schools.

The purpose of the clinic, for first chair students only, was to improve the general technique of area musicians. Tone production, tonguing, and technique were stressed.

Tentative plans were made for another clinic for younger players and for a percussion clinic.

Town Girls of AWS Formulate Plans

The Town Girls Association of AWS met on Thursday, Nov. 29, to continue formulating plans for the coming year. Mrs. Martha Bladt, dean of women, met with the girls to assist them in discussing the purpose of the association and means of arousing greater interest among the members.

Various committees were appointed to be in charge of a Christmas party, which will be held on Thursday, Dec. 13, at 4 p.m., in the recreation room of Roberta Hall. Entertainment for the afternoon will include a comic gift exchange.

All girls living in approved housing and their housemothers are cordially invited to join in the festivities.

ISO Met Last Tuesday

Charla Kirchhoff was elected secretary of the Independent Student Organization at the regular weekly meeting held Tuesday evening, December 4. Wanda Cox was elected treasurer of the organization.

Pins, up-coming events and student senate candidates were discussed.

'Cat Grapplers Whip Mules 28-7

Coach Jerry Landwer's Bearcat wrestlers opened their season on a successful note on Dec. 1, as they trounced the Warrensburg Mules 27-8. The 'Cats lost only two of the 10 matches.

Individual Feats

Coach Landwer reported that several of his wrestlers did exceedingly well in the meet. He singled out Tony Nelson, Harvey Hallum, and Ray Nunneley as outstanding Maryville grapplers. Nelson had his opponent in several near-wins, Hallum won easily, 10-1, and Nunneley whitewashed his opponent 15-0. Jerry Larenzinni was outstanding for the Mules, according to Coach Landwer. The 'Cats participated in the

Whip Dallas 68-54; Clip Cards 60-47
Voss Scores 52 in Two Games

The Northwest Missouri State College Bearcats extended their basketball record to 3-0 as they recorded victories over Dallas University Friday night, 68-54, and William Jewell Saturday night, 60-47.

The high riding Bearcats were led by Roger Voss with 26 points in each game and Paul Lizzo with 16 and 12 tallies for the two contests. Voss and Don Drake led the 'Cats in the rebounding department with 26 and 20 cars, respectively, for the two games.

The Big Green raced away from the Dallas Crusaders in the first half, and they controlled a 40-21 halftime margin. An inspired group of Crusaders roared back and cut the lead to seven points before the 'Cats again gained control and coasted to victory. The 'Cats out-rebounded the Crusaders 47-30.

Cards Start Strong

A strong William Jewell quintet started out to snap the 'Cat winning streak as they jumped to a 9-1 lead before the Green and White offense began rolling. With Voss leading the way, the Maryville squad fought to a 22-22 halftime tie. The second stanza started evenly, but the Bearcats, sparked by Bob Nelson's ball-hawking, pulled into the lead and wrapped it up 60-47. The 'Cats controlled the boards by a 39-27 margin.

Neira Hurt

Dampening the winning spirit of the Bearcats was the re-injury of Nick Neira's knee. Neira, a fireball playmaker, injured his knee in a pre-season squad game.

The Bearcats travel to Peru Saturday night and play host to Pittsburg State Monday night.

Bearcats Face Pitt Gorillas on Dec. 17

The Northwest Missouri State College Bearcats take to the road Saturday night as they travel to Peru before playing host to a rugged Pittsburg State team Monday night.

Gorillas Return 12

Peru has a well balanced squad and can be counted on for a tight scoring game. Pittsburg State has a strong squad based on 12 talented returnees. They have the height and depth to make a high scoring game.

Maryville will be counting on the ability of Roger Voss, 'Cat center, to lead the scoring attack. Marvin Branch, Paul Lizzo, Dick Rishel, and Don Drake will add to the Big Green's offense.

The freshman tilts are set for 5:30 p.m., and the varsity action starts at 7:30 p.m.

PEM Club Plans Christmas Sale

PEM club members were urged to complete their semester project of candy selling as quickly as possible at the meeting held on Dec. 3.

Following the business meeting, Alice Smith led group recreation. Betty McDaniels and Ginger White were in charge of refreshments.

A Christmas party will take the place of the next regular meeting on Dec. 17.

SPORTS BULLETIN

The Bearcat wrestling team racked up 108 tallies in winning the Graceland tourney. Their nearest competitor was Graceland who chalked up 56 points.
